

The Zombie Monster Maker

A cute and romantic short tale, with a poetic twist, about a monster maker and her creation. Or, possibly its just a broken hearted, one sided love story about kindness and compassion, one that may still be waiting for a proper ending. Its a story that was written for a very special lady somewhere out there. Could that lady possibly be you? It was purposefully written under a pen name, to keep the mystery alive. So I suppose youll be left in suspense wondering, until you read it. Either way, I truly do hope in many ways, that every one of you ladies can relate. I hope that each and every one of you finds your very own zombie monster maker! I also hope that you find it refreshingly different from any of the other romance stories that you might have read. This story is also a plea to every kind hearted lady. If you help get this story noticed, maybe one day shell finally see it, wherever she may be. I truly hope that all of you like it! If it does nothing more than put huge smile on her face, making her feel special and loved, then it wouldve been well worth the effort! I hope it leaves every single one of you with a big smile in your heart as well! This short poetic story is double spaced, for easier readability. Its a slightly difficult read, but hopefully itll still be worth it! Warmest Regards, Damien
