

After Shave

In all the while I have been writing, the poem After Shave is the very first time I have really gotten a hundred percent in touch with my emotions. It was a really difficult thing for me to do, and I believe its one of the best works I have at this stage in my growth as a writer. Thats the reason why I decided to make after shave the title for this book. It is the outcry of a young man who has to traverse this world on his own, without a father to act as a guide in this convoluted labyrinth that we call life. However the book in its entirety, addresses a plethora of topics. There is something for everyone. From love poems to inspirational poems; poems about the prison industrial complex; poems about the human experience; poems about race and justice; poems about nature; even poems that were inspired by friends and true life experiences. This book I would daresay comes close to the most holistic poem chapbook that you will come across as a reader.
