

The House By the River (Classic Reprint)

Pbaed Street !P raed Street! How tired she was of that monotonous chant, which greeted her ears morning after morning, and again evening after evening, as she started for the city, and made her way back again, A sy after day, with the click-click of the typewriter always in her ears. For Alison Clevely was a typewriter girl, just one of the great crowd of surging young woman hood that pours into the city in the morning and out again in the evening, earning a scanty living Sin a monotonous and not very easy way, with, for oc the most part, a dark sky overhead, and not overfe bright prosi)ects of life to keep up its spirits lupon.(Typographical errors above are due to OCR software and dont occur in the book.)About the Publisher Forgotten Books is a publisher of historical writings, such as: Philosophy, Classics, Science, Religion, History, Folklore and Mythology.Forgotten Books Classic Reprint Series utilizes the latest technology to regenerate facsimiles of historically important writings.
