

The Mounted Police Novels: Volume 1-Philip Steele of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police & the Rivers End

Thrilling tales from the great land of lakes and forests. In Curwood, the famous Mounties had possibly their first and most enthusiastic champion and author of their adventures of fiction and legend. The image of the lone policeman out in the Canadian wilderness enduring every force nature could hurl against him and yet still resolutely and infallibly getting his man was never more powerful than in the pages of Curwood's stories. His inspiration came from a time before The Royal Canadian Mounted Police, when the force was titled, The North West Mounted Police and of course this meant the adventures are set in an earlier era—the Canada of the 19th century—where the untamed land was sparsely populated with untamed men and the tribes of indigenous Indians that might yet be hostile. These men were policemen, trappers, trackers, rangers, part lawman, part soldier—often imagined in their distinctive scarlet uniform—in fact the very stuff which has evoked true adventure in the minds of those aged from 8 to 80! The first volume of this four volume set from Leonaur includes two full length novels, the first introducing the Mountie Curwood made a benchmark for the breed. Philip Steele of the Royal North West Mounted Police and Rivers End. Available in soft back and hard back with dust cover for collectors. Leonaur hard covers feature real cloth bindings, gold foil lettering upon their spines and woven head and tail bands.
